Senate Confirms Two New Members to the Office of the Treasurer

Chiara Bercu '11 and Napoleon Lherrisson '11 were both confirmed as Assistant Treasurers by the Senate last Sunday.

This semester, the Office of the Treasurer will work to further improve both the system of financial reporting at Brandeis and the speed with which chartered clubs receive reimbursement for the purchases they were granted money for. One aspect of these improvements is the new 24-hour initiation initiative. The Office of the Treasurer will attempt to complete all financial transactions within 24 hours after club leaders drop of their finance-related forms.

To help make this possible, more help is needed. For this reason, Chiara Bercu had been receiving training from Student Union Treasurer Choon Woo Ha throughout last semester so that she would be ready to contribute this semester.

The bulk of Lherrisson's duties will be significantly different. His roll will be to maintain inventory. Chartered clubs are constantly requesting money for reusable items such as cameras, chairs, speakers etc. As items that Student Activities Fee money was used to purchase, they are the property of the student body and not any one specific club. Other clubs have rights to these items. The book keeping on where these items are, though, has not been the greatest. Lherrisson will be in charge of keeping the list of capital inventories up to date so that it will be easier for club leaders to access the equipment that they need.
